RAP STYLE 3:27

This is my rap style - simple, homespun.
It grows like a weed in a field full of sun.
I like to free-write so my notebooks weigh a ton.
I work into the night but the job is never done,
like working for others instead of myself,
for the 401-K and insurance for my health.
I want to retire, leave the rat race behind,
'cause all I wanna do is just bust another rhyme
in my rap style.

I work myself to death, so I sit to meditate and take another deep breath, a twenty-minute rest.
Now who do I thank upstairs in my prayers,
'cause I went from a trailer park to Prince of Belle Air?
I meant, Prince of Bay Ridge, 'cause that's where I live.
If you want to find me, find the Verrazzano Bridge.
You can see it from a skyscraper clear from Manhattan.
I walk right underneath it on the weekend when I'm rapping
in my rap style.

I'm always rap styling, that's why I'm smiling, blowing off steam on this pressure-cooker island.

Pick up the Bic and let the ink flow out,
then I start to recite, it's been what I'm all about,
ever since a teenager, and probably always will,
until I'm lying in a hospital death-bed ill.

First I'll pop a pill. Then I'll write my will.
Then pop one last wheelie with my wheelchair wheels
and bust my rap style.
