I started these tracks back in 2018 and originally I was going to write lyrics for them and do a SIX ONNA 7 with vocals. Obviously that never happened and I honestly can't even recall how many songs I wrote (pretty sure it wasn't many).

Recently, in the middle of working on a number of things, I felt the urge to knock out a solo project just to get something finished quickly. That project became 6 ONNA 7 (Plate 4: The Leftovers) and it only took me a day or two to get it where I wanted it to be. After it was finished I decided to go back and listen to what I had done for Chapter 3 and I realized it just needed some additional sounds, sequencing and mixing and it would be good to go.

So here it is, two years later. Glad I was able to finally get it finished and submitted to blocSonic. Shout out to Tha Silent Partner who started these releases and who kept me motivated by way of his incredible work ethic. He's already put out 8 of his installments (9 if you count the one we did together) so I need to put in some serious work to catch up.

PEace!
